

TIGER IRON

Tiger iron is a quartz-lignite aggregate gemstone containing layers of vibrant golden tiger eye, metallic grey hematite and rich, red jasper. Sometimes called mugglestone, much to the surprise and delight of Harry Potter fans everywhere! Some versions of mugglestone are also low on red jasper, making it a highly included, banded form of natural hematite. Believed to be a rare and potent three-fold stone; it grounds energies, protects the spirit and manifests the will. As such, practitioners are wary when pairing it with other stones, lest it supercharge them.

TIGER IRON

Tiger iron is a quartz-lignite aggregate gemstone containing layers of vibrant golden tiger eye, metallic grey hematite and rich, red jasper. Sometimes called mugglestone, much to the surprise and delight of Harry Potter fans everywhere! Some versions of mugglestone are also low on red jasper, making it a highly included, banded form of natural hematite. Believed to be a rare and potent three-fold stone; it grounds energies, protects the spirit and manifests the will. As such, practitioners are wary when pairing it with other stones, lest it supercharge them.

TIGER IRON

Tiger iron is a quartz-lignite aggregate gemstone containing layers of vibrant golden tiger eye, metallic grey hematite and rich, red jasper. Sometimes called mugglestone, much to the surprise and delight of Harry Potter fans everywhere! Some versions of mugglestone are also low on red jasper, making it a highly included, banded form of natural hematite. Believed to be a rare and potent three-fold stone; it grounds energies, protects the spirit and manifests the will. As such, practitioners are wary when pairing it with other stones, lest it supercharge them.

TIGER IRON

Tiger iron is a quartz-lignite aggregate gemstone containing layers of vibrant golden tiger eye, metallic grey hematite and rich, red jasper. Sometimes called mugglestone, much to the surprise and delight of Harry Potter fans everywhere! Some versions of mugglestone are also low on red jasper, making it a highly included, banded form of natural hematite. Believed to be a rare and potent three-fold stone; it grounds energies, protects the spirit and manifests the will. As such, practitioners are wary when pairing it with other stones, lest it supercharge them.

TIGER IRON

Tiger iron is a quartz-lignite aggregate gemstone containing layers of vibrant golden tiger eye, metallic grey hematite and rich, red jasper. Sometimes called mugglestone, much to the surprise and delight of Harry Potter fans everywhere! Some versions of mugglestone are also low on red jasper, making it a highly included, banded form of natural hematite. Believed to be a rare and potent three-fold stone; it grounds energies, protects the spirit and manifests the will. As such, practitioners are wary when pairing it with other stones, lest it supercharge them.

TIGER IRON

Tiger iron is a quartz-lignite aggregate gemstone containing layers of vibrant golden tiger eye, metallic grey hematite and rich, red jasper. Sometimes called mugglestone, much to the surprise and delight of Harry Potter fans everywhere! Some versions of mugglestone are also low on red jasper, making it a highly included, banded form of natural hematite. Believed to be a rare and potent three-fold stone; it grounds energies, protects the spirit and manifests the will. As such, practitioners are wary when pairing it with other stones, lest it supercharge them.