

CACOXENITE

Cacoxenite Crystal, known as the Stone of Ascension, has rare energetic properties that elevate and improve whatever crystals are found with it. The inclusions of Cacoxenite in Amethyst are extremely regenerative. It not only re-programs the cells of the body, but also invigorates the mind. Appearing in rare extrusions of Amethyst and Quartz, Cacoxenite forms as strands of yellow, gold or rich, earthy brown within larger outcrops of host crystals. Embodied within these crystals are the energies of seven different minerals including of course both the minerals Cacoxenite and Amethyst.

CACOXENITE

Cacoxenite Crystal, known as the Stone of Ascension, has rare energetic properties that elevate and improve whatever crystals are found with it. The inclusions of Cacoxenite in Amethyst are extremely regenerative. It not only re-programs the cells of the body, but also invigorates the mind. Appearing in rare extrusions of Amethyst and Quartz, Cacoxenite forms as strands of yellow, gold or rich, earthy brown within larger outcrops of host crystals. Embodied within these crystals are the energies of seven different minerals including of course both the minerals Cacoxenite and Amethyst.

CACOXENITE

Cacoxenite Crystal, known as the Stone of Ascension, has rare energetic properties that elevate and improve whatever crystals are found with it. The inclusions of Cacoxenite in Amethyst are extremely regenerative. It not only re-programs the cells of the body, but also invigorates the mind. Appearing in rare extrusions of Amethyst and Quartz, Cacoxenite forms as strands of yellow, gold or rich, earthy brown within larger outcrops of host crystals. Embodied within these crystals are the energies of seven different minerals including of course both the minerals Cacoxenite and Amethyst.

CACOXENITE

Cacoxenite Crystal, known as the Stone of Ascension, has rare energetic properties that elevate and improve whatever crystals are found with it. The inclusions of Cacoxenite in Amethyst are extremely regenerative. It not only re-programs the cells of the body, but also invigorates the mind. Appearing in rare extrusions of Amethyst and Quartz, Cacoxenite forms as strands of yellow, gold or rich, earthy brown within larger outcrops of host crystals. Embodied within these crystals are the energies of seven different minerals including of course both the minerals Cacoxenite and Amethyst.

CACOXENITE

Cacoxenite Crystal, known as the Stone of Ascension, has rare energetic properties that elevate and improve whatever crystals are found with it. The inclusions of Cacoxenite in Amethyst are extremely regenerative. It not only re-programs the cells of the body, but also invigorates the mind. Appearing in rare extrusions of Amethyst and Quartz, Cacoxenite forms as strands of yellow, gold or rich, earthy brown within larger outcrops of host crystals. Embodied within these crystals are the energies of seven different minerals including of course both the minerals Cacoxenite and Amethyst.

CACOXENITE

Cacoxenite Crystal, known as the Stone of Ascension, has rare energetic properties that elevate and improve whatever crystals are found with it. The inclusions of Cacoxenite in Amethyst are extremely regenerative. It not only re-programs the cells of the body, but also invigorates the mind. Appearing in rare extrusions of Amethyst and Quartz, Cacoxenite forms as strands of yellow, gold or rich, earthy brown within larger outcrops of host crystals. Embodied within these crystals are the energies of seven different minerals including of course both the minerals Cacoxenite and Amethyst.