

ORTHOGERAS

A long straight cephalopod from the Devonian Period, 350 million years ago. These creatures lived in a shallow sea where Morocco is now. Orthoceras are identified by their straight shell with center siphuncle. They became extinct approximately 190 million years ago.

© 1990 Pikes Peak Rock Shop

